Rules for Beacon:

Letters may not exceed 250 Words.

Letters submitted that exceed this limit will not be published. No acknowledgement of unused letters will be made.

For print letters the Beacon welcomes letters on topics of general interest. All must carry the name of the town of residence of the writer, and include their daytime telephone number.

Letters should be brief and to the point.

The editor reserves the right to edit letters for space style and content.

A writer may not submit more than one letter per month. Letters by the same writer that repeat an issue previously written about will not be published.

All letters should be received by 5 PM Monday for consideration in each week's issue.

TIP: Write letter in word, then copy and paste into your email account. While in Word, Under TOOLS, check the Spelling and Grammar, and also WORD COUNT.
